THURSDAY, MAY 5, 1906.

The San Francisco calamity, after all, is only a nine-days' wonder. Nothing better illustrates the vastness of this country and its interest.

Carr, Birmingham, Birmingham, as well as a man, having defeated Congressman Bankhead for the Democratic Congressional nomination in the Sixth Alabama district.

New York City banks continue to import large sums of gold to relieve the financial situation. It is pretty much the only importance that the trusty old protectionist ap proves of.

U. S. Senator James R. McLean formally opened his campaign for re-election to the Senate at Louisville last week. There are those who see in their mind's eye his way to victory at the bell of Gor, Beckwith.

The next dismal sweep in Virginia and North Carolina is in such a state of agitation that the residents are fleeing in apprehension of an earthquake or volcanic eruption. It is likely that there will be a attack of fever and ague.

Mr. W. H. Adams arrived a short while ago this week, owing to the insurance companies throwing choice ones on the market in order to pay losses at San Francisco. The losses by that calamity will be largely distributed over the world.

The Indiana Supreme Court has come to the rescue of the cigarette smokers in that State by deciding that the cigarette law does not apply to the importation or distribution of tobacco nor to the importation of the same in interstate commerce, but only to the sale of tobacco in the state. The law, it is said, will be largely abated, prohibiting lots for the suppression of intoxicants and cigarettes is in a Federal law which is to be applied to all interstate commerce. The prohibition law of Kentucky fails to prevent the importation of intoxicants from other states.
